Daybreak Adoration

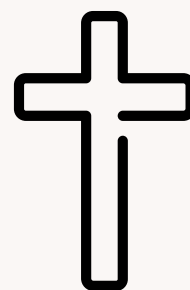

I often ask the teens where they first met God. Sometimes they have answers, sometimes they don't, and all of our conversations are powerful. For me, a cradle Catholic who blamed God when things went wrong (and they often did), I knew HE was real for me when I was on retreat my senior year of high school and the retreat team woke us up before dawn to pray. When the theme of Daybreak was presented to me, all I wanted to do was give our teens a similar experience and thanks to a hard working retreat team, it was a huge success and the Spirit worked! No one mentioned the path of luminaries, the beauty of the hard work, but everyone mentioned the power of Adoration as the sun came up! THAT is exactly what I hoped for! Many thanks to the team and Fr. Sebastian who woke up VERY early to provide an Encounter. I appreciate you.

Bayou Bash 2026

The superhero teammate of AYM: Bayou Bash has whipped the webpage into shape, ready to roll out the red carpet for your ticket buys, donations, and sponsorships! The event is sneaking up faster than a cat on a hot tin roof, and those ticket prices will moonwalk their way up each month.

Think about channeling your end-of-year generosity toward our teens' summer encounters with the Lord. So, put on your thinking cap, crack open that wallet, and join the party as we celebrate our vibrant young church and help them rake in some dough!

Chaperones Needed

Do your teens return from trips, regaling you with tales of their escapades, leaving you secretly wishing you could've tagged along? Ever pondered what it might be like to meet the Lord through mission work or just frolic through summer camp hijinks?

This summer, more than ever, we're shouting from the rooftops: WE NEED YOU to join our teens on these epic adventures! The only things you need are to be over 21, have your background check squeaky clean on VirtusOnline.org, and be game for a mix of fun and fervent prayer.

Got questions or a spark of interest?
